JUNIOR CONSERVATION TECHNICIAN PROGRAM

PAID PROFESSIONAL LEARNING OPPORTUNITY

We are hiring our third cohort of Junior Conservation Technicians (JCTs). This is a paid program for 9th–12th graders who are looking to gain a deeper understanding of environmental conservation and want hands-on experience working in the field. This position is best for teens interested in:

- Environmental conservation
- Environmental education
- Working outdoors in all conditions
- Hiking
- Naturalist knowledge
- Bird conservation
- Community science
- Habitat restoration

Mentorship

JCTs will be mentored by our Youth Conservation Leadership Coordinator and work alongside Vermont conservation professionals.

Work Outside

Work outside at the Green Mountain Audubon Center on conservation projects that help birds and other wildlife!

Skill Building

JCTs will leave this position with skills in: resume writing, interviewing, field work, data collection, trail maintenance, wildlife and plant identification, and so much more!
